

UNIFI – Placing intelligence at the hub

Success
Story

The UNIFI records management system places 'Intelligence at the hub' of a modern, modular and flexible framework ensuring that a force doesn't need to change its operational procedures to accommodate technology but rather invest in technology which will support efficient process change.

UNIFI delivers benefits across the whole operational business

UK Forces that use UNIFI show consistently good quality data within the areas of crime and intelligence capture and management according to the latest Audit Commission report. Where extended to use Custody, Case or other modules the same data is made available as UNIFI builds real-time intelligence links.

Benefits

- Consistently high data quality with no duplication
- Holistic view of all data sources
- Integration with third party systems
- Modern, modular and flexible deployment architecture
- Flexible licencing arrangements
- Active user group community driving new functionality at shared cost
- Certified, high quality 24/7 service
- Simple, approved procurement routes

In addition, if using NSPIS:

- Low risk data migration when upgrading
- Significantly reduced service costs
- Low training abstraction costs

“In the management of critical incidents a small piece of information put into the UNIFI system will give me a complete picture of all the things I need to know to keep the public and officers safe.”
